Placement details:

Anne runs a restaurant on the family farm live in the South of Ireland with 250 acres, most of which is used for tillage - wheat, oats, barley and potatoes. There are also 30 beef cattle and some greyhounds. Anne's parents, Marie and Donnacha Phelan, run the farm and they have eight children, all of whom are grown up and only three of them are still involved in the farms activities, including Anne. There will also be a student helping on the farm for the summer.

You will be expected to help wherever you are needed, this could be general house work, greeting guests, serving tables, using the till, being helpful to the guests during the day. You may be able to get involved with some of the cooking

You will be helping to make and clean the five guestrooms and to keep the 50 cover restaurant clean and tidy, vacuuming, polishing and dusting, shining cutlery and glasware, as well as any other duties involved with the running of this sucessful restaurant.

You will have your own room on the top floor of the family home, be involved with family activities, share you meals with the family and any other students who may be helping on the farm. You will receive pocket money of €100 each week and be expected to work six days with one full day off each week. This is a great placement to see some different side to Irish farming, work in a good restaurant and get a real feel for family life in Ireland.
